

SCIENTISTS THINK.

Scientists are critical thinkers. They ask questions, do research, and think carefully about what they learn.

Scientists research topics to learn all they can. First they look for good resources. Libraries are great places to seek facts.

Use a reference book or a book from the library to find facts about your favorite animal. If you need help, ask a librarian!

Record your findings here:

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

