

MAKE A PLAN

Architectural plans used to be called BLUEPRINTS because of the special paper that architects used to create and copy them. Architectural plans use symbols to represent the parts of the building. The symbols are important in communicating to contractors and builders—and to building owners—precisely how the structure will come together.

HERE ARE SOME OF THEM:

Wall

Window

Doorway

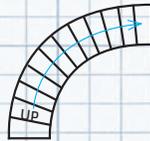

Hinged door

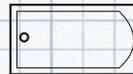

Stairs

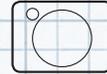

Curved stairs

Bathtub

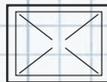

Freestanding sink

Toilet

Shower

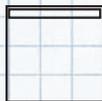

Cabinet with sink

Stove

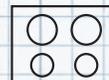

Fridge

Cabinet

Washer

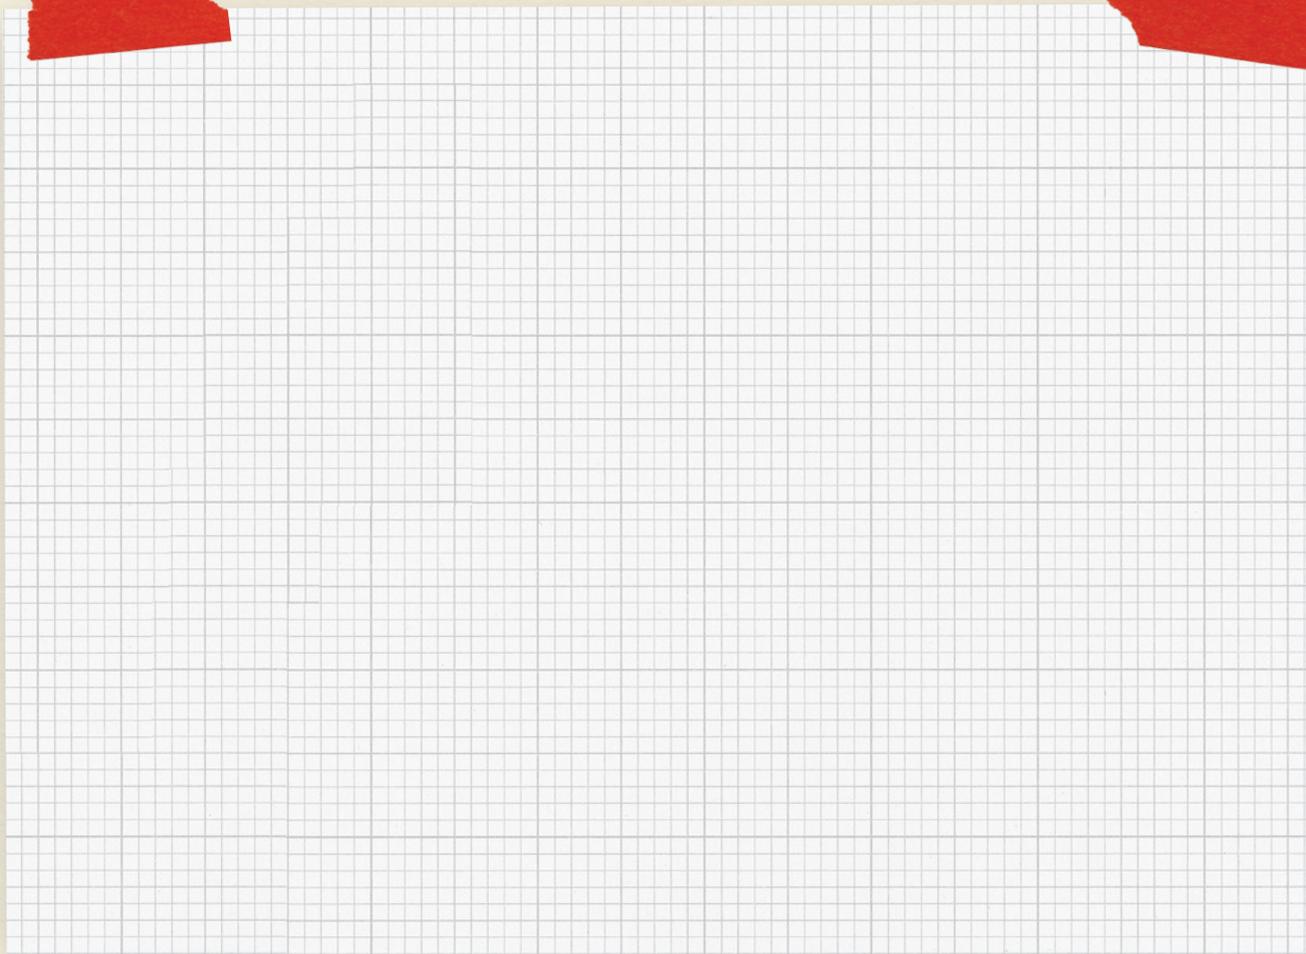

Dryer

Use the symbols to create a simple home plan.

READ. QUESTION. THINK.

THE QUESTIONEERS

Questioners.com

By Andrea Beaty, Illustration © David Roberts